Tulip Planting Instructions

Tulips are ideal for beds, borders, under light trees or inter-planted among roses. It is best to wait until the soil temperature is below 16° C (60° F) before planting. This usually is October or November. Tulips enjoy sunny positions, but flowers will last longer in partial shade. Choose a site where tulips have not been grown in recent years.

Good soil drainage is the most important criteria for success with flower bulbs, therefore soil preparation is a must. Loosen the soil thoroughly before planting. Plant tulip bulbs 15 cm (6") deep, spacing the bulbs 10 cm (4") apart.

For eye catching splashes of colour in your garden, plant the bulbs in clusters rather than singly in rows. After planting, water the area thoroughly and cover the bed with 2-3 inches of mulch.
